

Catalogue of Mental Health Measures

NEWS & UPDATES

What's new on the Catalogue?

We recently updated the Catalogue with:

New sweeps

- ALSPAC cohort members report on their life at 31+
- The children of the Southampton Women's Survey completed questionnaires at ages 11-13 years and 17-19 years
- The Baseline Assessment of UK Biobank was enhanced after its inception, and the additional questions are now also available on the Catalogue

New interoperability feature

Study pages now include links to the Atlas of Longitudinal Datasets, the HDR UK Gateway, CLOSER Discovery and/or the UK Longitudinal Linkage Collaboration when these platforms contain information on a study. This addition aims to facilitate quick and easy access to more information on other platforms.

The Atlas of Longitudinal Datasets

As part of our newsletters, we are excited to dedicate this column space to the Atlas, the Catalogue's cousin platform.

What is on the Atlas so far?

- Close to 2,500 datasets, with over 30 verified by study teams and data custodians
- For each dataset, key information on the sample, data types, data access and more

A core aim of this online tool is to help increase the discoverability of data, in the UK and worldwide. Read more about how the Atlas has strived to achieve this in a UK Data Service blog by Georgina and Siann.

If you have not already, check out the Atlas!

New paper out!

Read our latest paper published in the International Journal of Epidemiology, where we discuss the richness and lessons learned from our experience landscaping the world for longitudinal datasets.

Team updates

No summer would be complete without conferences and we have been preparing to attend and present at the SLLS Annual Conference in Fribourg, Switzerland as well as the 17th International Conference on Child and Adolescent Psychopathology, the BPS Developmental Section Annual Conference & the HDR UK Conference in London, UK. We hope to see there those of you also attending!
